THE CODASCO VOL. LXVI

The new CDS

When returning to CDS this September, many students wondered whether they'd come to the right school. The changes made at CDS last summer were numerous and made the school much more interesting.

Of greatest interest to most students is the modern space-age lunch room, which makes eating a pleasure. One wonders why the students don't skip all their classes and eat all day. The ease with which food is acquired and the dishes disposed of makes the job of it all much easier.

Also, many students were able to use the much improved and much cleaner weight room. Besides this, Doc's numerous students were able to listen and learn in the new comfortable German room, equipped with new and nicer desks, sturdier shelves, and clean, white blinds.

An improvement of more interest to the faculty and the Mother's Association was the new conference room: Former Senior Lounge.

Opposed to these physical improvements, there were attempts to improve the intellectual atmosphere at CDS, with the continuation of coordinate classes such as Economics, and Recent America. Attempts were also made to improve the quality of the student leadership by giving the student leaders lessons in leadership before school started.

These numerous changes enable CDS to perform even better than in the past. With further improvements, the students will be able to study in the truly great facilities they deserve.

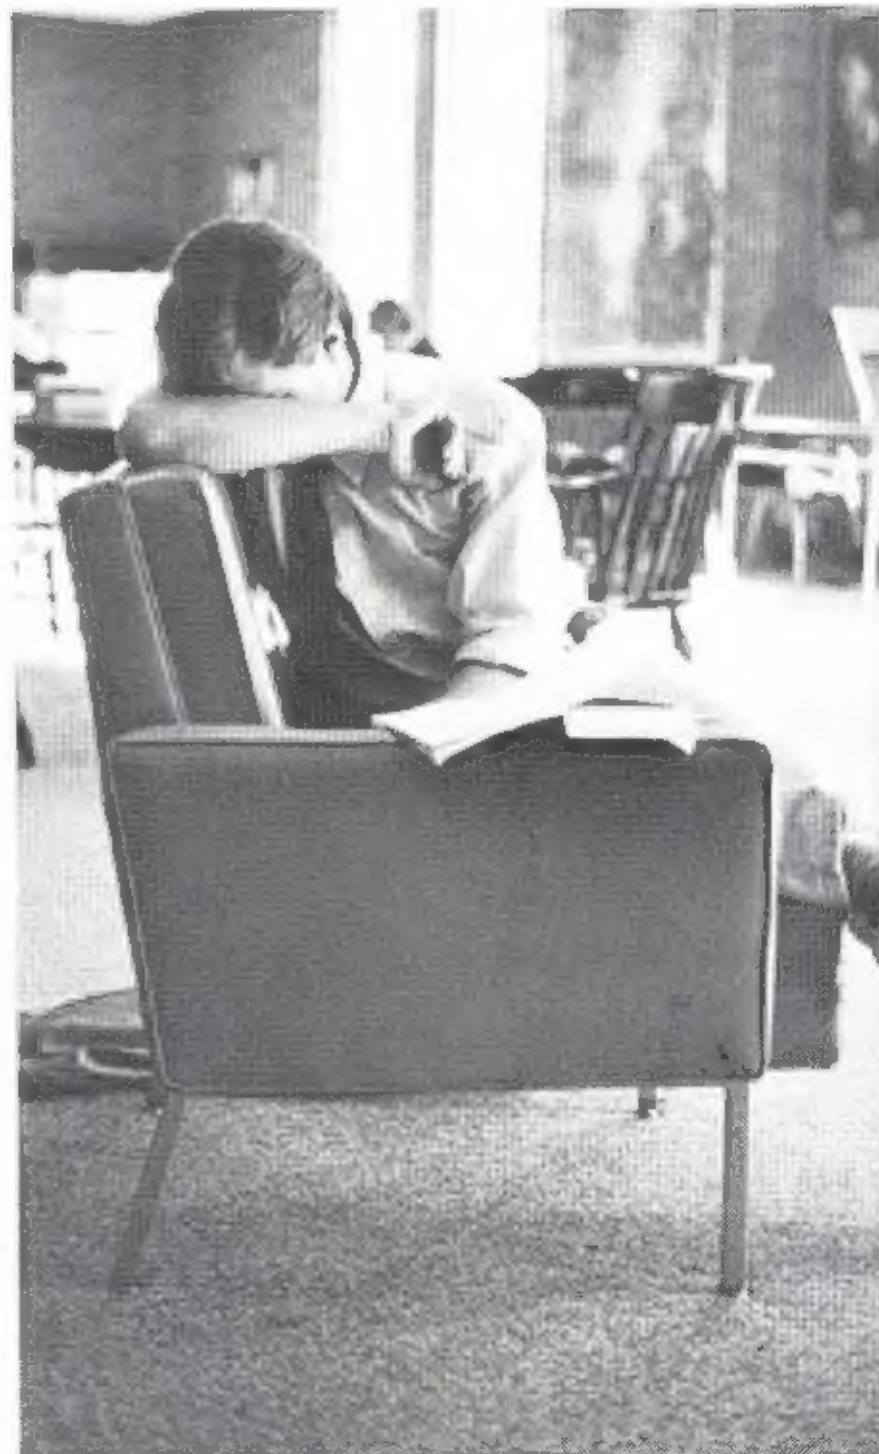

This year, the Big Brother Program was re-instituted after seven years absence. Big brother, Steve Hughes, hands senior sodas to the new Lower School students.

meraderie at its best.

The Old CDS

The old Country Day, however, has not been totally replaced by the new. Many traditions have survived, such as class eighters playing football during free period and sacrifices to the pond god.

Many traditions survive by themselves, such as large crowds at football games and the punishing and abusing of underclassmen by the seniors. However, a long struggle was needed to save one of the most beloved traditions: Friday Shirts. Also, a great effort will be needed to make sure the present Lower Schoolers learn the rally song, as there is no group lunch anymore, thus eliminating a chance to sing the Rally Song.

The basic curriculum of Country Day has remained unchanged, even with the appearance of girls from MI. Also, Country Day sports have remained strong, although it still remains to be seen whether the present Lower Schoolers will fare as well.

Summer

This summer, while most of the student body vegetated, many students enjoyed important and vital activities. The summer began as the seniors had a class softball game, which was unfortunately interrupted by the Ladue Police, which is a shame. The summer continued as many students journeyed overseas as Steve Hughes went to France and Campbell F. Litsey to Germany. And, of course, Doc took his trip to Germany, highlighted by an adventure involving one person in a public bathroom, and the attempts of the members to become permanently attached to the barstools at the Londoner. Also, there were two casualties on the trip- Doc as a result of a collision with a vicious goalie, and Tom Rosenthal, as a result with a scuffle with an overly excited trip member.

The very artistic seniors painted their lounge in a brilliant fashion, an amazing feat of organization and intelligence.

And of course, the end of the summer was marked by the return of the various sports, for instance- football, soccer, and probably the most demanding and grueling sport of them all- Cross Country.

CDS by Day

While the Country Day student is not sitting attentively in his beloved classes, he has an abundance of free time. Of course, some of the students study, but this is the exception rather than the norm. Most of the students, at this point lacking a lounge, go to the bookstore, but this has proven to be boring. To alleviate the boredom, there is always lunch, and an occasional basketball game. However, one can eat only so much, and basketball becomes tiring, so the student turns to wanton acts of destruction and violence, or even greater sins. Of course, we're referring to students leaving school, whether it be to Rexall or home or to points unknown. Students who commit this crime are rarely caught, but when they are, they end the day in a wonderful way — detention.

Weekends were made for . . .

What makes up a weekend?

It begins on Friday afternoon when there is generally a sporting event which can be observed. It is also a time which people find perfect for relaxing or watching TV. Some Students find that this time can best be utilized by making a "spirited" excursion to help boost the East St. Louis economy.

The activities on Friday nights range from parties at Bruce Edwards' house to evenings spent at Tropicana playing video games.

Saturdays are devoted to resting and recuperating around the house or at football games during the fall. Saturday nights tend to be similar to Friday nights except that Blues games are a popular attraction.

Sunday is the day of rest and relaxation. Viewing an omnipresent Cardinals football game is always an option. During the fall, the Troubadors cast spends five hours of Sunday at school, rehearsing.

How do you spend your weekend?

Money

Money, a basic need for survival at Country Day, is perhaps one of the most coveted possessions of the Country Day society. It comes from many different sources and goes to satisfy many different needs. One source of income is the always reliable and loveable parent. Another way a student can get money is from hard work. The older student spends the majority of his money for the important cause of recycling cans and glass bottles. He also finds that he is spending a lot on the worthy cause of girl pleasing, which hopefully will provide its own rewards. The younger student must be financially prepared for excursions to the theatre and the exciting new video games. Without money, life around the Country Day society would be somewhat inactive.

Dedication

This year marks a departure from the traditional CODASCO dedication. We shall not recognize a faculty member nor any group of faculty members. This is not to diminish in any way, however, the distinguished achievements of our faculty this year, whether academic, athletic, or humanitarian, for indeed there have been many. Rather, we wish to reflect a moment on the notable achievements of those individuals who have facilitated the smooth running of this institution from behind the scenes.

So, it is with considerable pride and gratitude that we dedicate this year's CODASCO to one of the largest and most diverse groups in recent memory. The only thing they have in common is a selfless commitment to this school and its students.

To Toby Moyle, for her invaluable work in the Audio-Visual Department and for her warmth and charm. To our librarians, Betty Simpson and Wendy Garlock who have preserved the integrity of our library seemingly against all odds. To Irene Barringer, Shirley Puchalski, Mary Jane Michaels, Nancy Saylor, and Frances Ramsey, switchboard operators, receptionists, secretaries, administrative assistants, and, most of all, student advisors and advocates. To the members of the Food Service and to the Maintenance Department, and especially to those responsible for the completion of the beautiful new Alumni Room.

To Jimmy, A.C., and Mike for their careful attention to the upkeep of the school and especially for the friendship they have shared with the entire Country Day community for so many years.

Headmaster's letter

*Dr. John R.
Johnson*

Dear Seniors,

As you leave Country Day you will have many memories to take along with you. Some of you will recall a State Football, Tennis, or Swimming Championship; a role in J.B., the Odd Couple, or Godspell; a particularly difficult examination; excellent achievements in the classroom or in athletics or speech contests; and, we hope, a special friend or teacher.

We, in return, will remember you as a distinguished and cooperative group (well, maybe there was an incident or two which could qualify as an exception) and as talented, friendly, and promising individuals. You have not only been a class that won honors for yourself and for the School, but you have also been a class that has been positive and supportive.

Good memories are important to all of us and collectively they make up the tradition of the School. Country Day is proud of its tradition of leadership and of its distinguished alumni. We know that you will continue that tradition, for you are well-prepared, intelligent, multi-talented, and constructive. We thank you for your good spirit and for your contribution to the continuing distinction of the School. We wish you the greatest success and we will miss you.

A letter from the Editor

I have to do everything around here!

Surprised? Well so am I. Although I have spent the last six months laying out every page in this book, I still have not seen the final product. So believe you me, I am just as surprised as you.

A yearbook is an account of the year's events, and, in a sense, a published history that will be used by many in the future to look back on the 1983-84 school year. Our main objective in this year's Codashco was to capture all aspects of life at CDS, academic and non-academic. In doing so, however, there may be times in the book when the school comes across as too "laid back." That was not our intention. Country Day is a great school; yet what makes it so great is the combination of the academic and non-academic aspects. Thus, I apologize for anything in the book mistaken for criticism of our school.

Preparation for the yearbook began in the beginning of the summer with a yearbook workshop in Quincy, Illinois. Unfortunately I was the only one able to attend. This forced us to hold a two night crash course in August to introduce young yearbook staffers to basic layout techniques.

At the leadership training day in early September, the editors listed the many goals we wanted to accomplish. Our major goal was to produce a book which the students would appreciate in time, a book a student will look at ten or twenty years from now and say to himself, "Yeh, those were the good ole' days." Thus, we attempted to capture all of the major events during the school year including national and world wide events. There are many of our original goals that we never got around to, due to lack of time, but hopefully we accomplished our number one goal.

As it seems, with every Codashco, we started off well, meeting nearly every deadline. But as the year went on, the enthusiasm of the whole staff and even myself, seemed to die down. In January, production was virtually at a stand still with college applications, final exams, and internal complications. But we go back on track in February and March, when the final deadline was sent in.

Although I constantly complained about all of the work I had to do, there are many people without whom this incredible task would not be possible: Mr. Bruce MacKenzie, our faculty advisor, and our faithful staff, Peter Richardson, our photography editor, and Tim Hanser, our business editor, Mr. Jim Combs and Doris Busch of Josten's, my assistant editors, Dan Hummert and Peder Arneson (Pete especially helped toward the end when the work seemed like it would never be finished), and all of the other friends and even relatives who were eager to help whenever possible.

Editor-in-Chief

SENIORS

Despite all that one might have heard, it's not easy being a senior at Country Day. It was my toughest year in school. If it's not one thing, it's another, so all you underclassmen should live it up while you can.

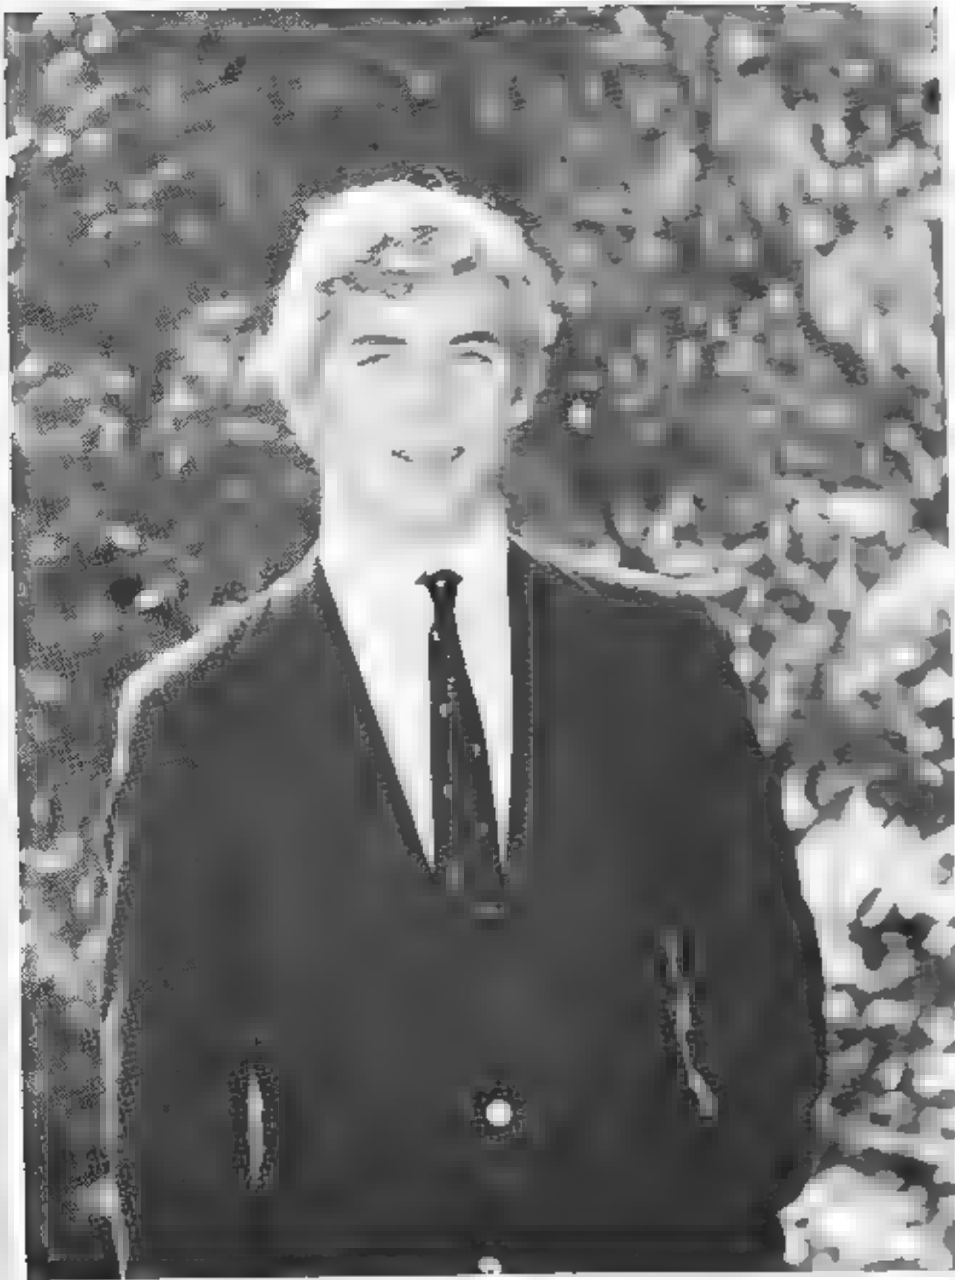

Either the pinball machine is broken, or you get taken by one of the sharks for five bucks a game. Then you can't find any of your tapes for the deck, and the day goes down from there. Halfway to El&Lee for breakfast, you realize that you lost all your money, but you go for the ride anyway. After all, you just skipped History for this. When you get back, you realize that you've missed half of the next class, and every excuse has been used at least twice.

After a quick tour of the library in quest of the math homework, it's back to the lounge. But you can't find the assignment there, either, because everyone is playing with the toy of the day, which will undoubtedly be lost or destroyed before lunch so you just have to get in the game. Finding a loan for lunch takes another period that should have been used to study for that quiz, but you have to set your priorities. By the time you get to McDonalds, you realize that you forgot to sign out for the 200th consecutive time and decide to make it 201. And if almost crashing into a junior leaving campus isn't enough, you get busted for not doing the math homework. It is a wonder you get through a single day, let alone a week or year. So, the next time you're sitting there, contemplating trying to study, throw away the books and live it up, because it doesn't get any easier.

One night a man had a dream. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the Lord. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand; one belonging to him, and the other to the Lord.

When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

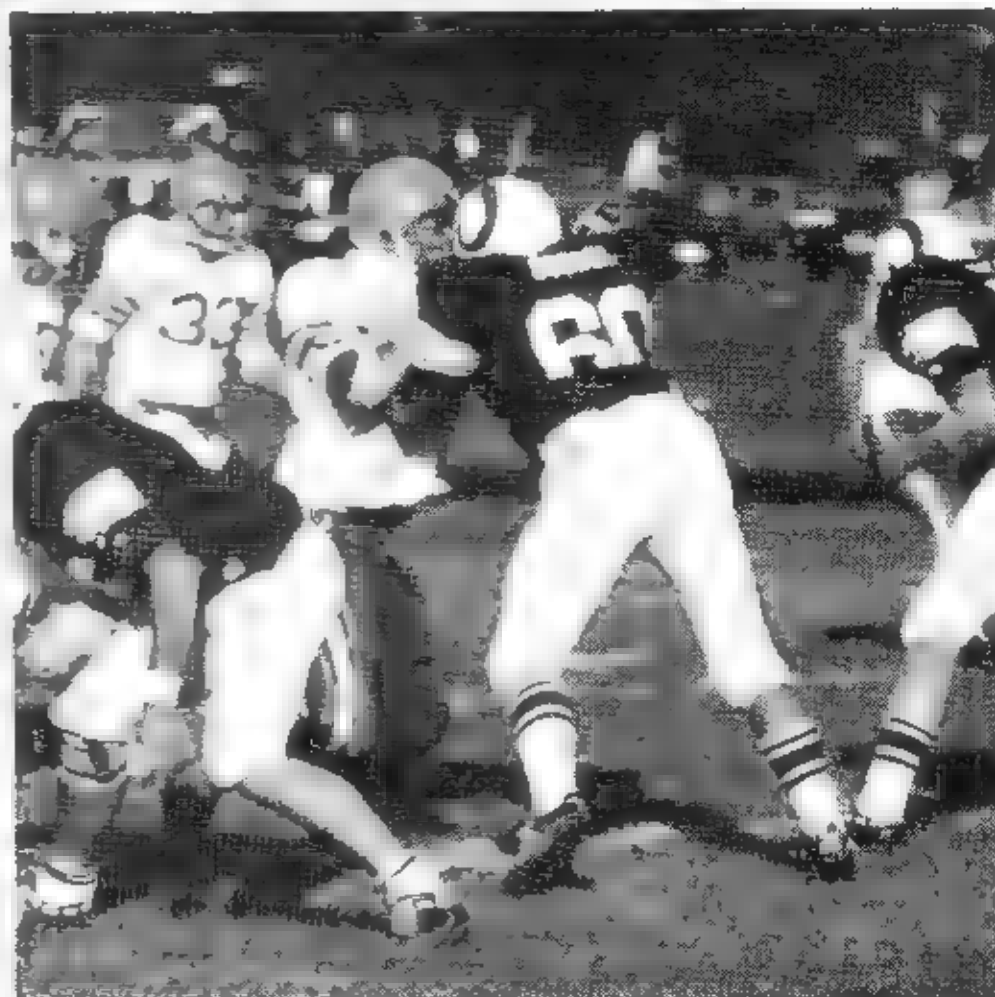

This really bothered him and he questioned the Lord about it. "Lord, you said that once I decided to follow you, you'd walk with me all the way. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints. I don't understand why when I needed you most you would leave me."

The Lord replied, "My precious, precious child I love you and I would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

UNDERCLASS MEN

Each day at CDS, the students come prepared to face the challenge of the day, which begins at 8:15 a.m. when the students attempt to figure out what Mr. Schuh's "word of the day" means. With no success, the baffled students proceed to follow the rigorous schedule that lies ahead of them.

From the first period to the last, students can be found either studying in the library and attending classes or relaxing wherever they can. The faculty at CDS, made up of the finest teachers, is only one reason why the students, who try to get the most out of their education, receive a rich, full, and complete education. The students also put many hours into their studies; they find themselves staying up late doing homework and studying for upcoming tests. With the desire to learn and the unlimited knowledge of the teachers, the students are able to receive a very broad education.

Even though the students spend most of their time studying, there is also time for relaxation. To get relief from the pressures to do well on tests, students usually head for the bookstore, where they can socialize with others while drinking sodas. Many students can also be found talking with the girls from MI, who are taking classes at CDS.

When Friday finally arrives, the students need and have a well deserved weekend coming to them. It's party time! All in all, life at CDS is not very easy, but it is enjoyable. The students who want to get the most out of their education in a friendly atmosphere are found here at CDS.

The Junior Class has proven itself to be quite unique in the class room as well as out of it. Upon first glance one might assume that the Junior Class is immature, but once one gets to know the class one realizes that we are just a fun loving bunch of guys. In the class room we are led by Mel Harrington, our class detur, along with many others, to achieve our goal of academic excellence. The relaxed, easy-go-lucky attitude shared by many juniors, which offends a few teachers, is just our way of coping with the incredible amount of pressure and stress in our environment. Out of class events are what the Junior Class is most notorious for, and that is also where we excel the most. In athletics the juniors make themselves known in every sport. Last year, B-Baseball and B-Soccer both won league championships. This year the juniors played a major role in A-Soccer's successful season, and figure to do the same in baseball. Juniors also played key roles on B and A Football, as both teams won league championships. Juniors also contibuted ot the always successful Water-Polo team, and to the young Cross Country team, which has great expectations for next year. Besides athletics, the juniors, with great enthusiasm, have given their valuable time to Troubadors, the debate team, the year book, and many other organizations where they can lend a helping hand. The prom, perhaps the biggest event of the year, organized by the juniors, will prove to everyone that the Junior Class is a competent bunch of fun loving guys.

The class of '86 has taken one more step on the road to graduation with yet more new and interesting courses as well as extra-curricular activities. This included the introduction of either Chemistry or Biology as a science and Geometry with two favorites of all CDS students, Gay King and Lev Hubbard. This year also meant the continuation of a foreign language and History of Art and Music, with the exception of those who opted for a second language. And who can deny the success of this year's sports, especially the B football's fantastic season, matched only by CDS's newest all-season sport "Nickle Hockey" in the Bookstore. The ability to drive gave this year's sophomores the chance to take part in activities outside that of the standard curriculum. That is, Speech and Debate, the News, the Yearbook, Troubadors and this year's class play. All in all, sophomores enjoyed another exciting and educational year at CDS.

Enthusiastic seems to be the key word when Mr. Hansen, Class Four Chairman, describes the class of 1987. By early September the class had already had a swim and tennis party honoring the class's six new members, and had held a Car Wash. More than half of the Class washed cars, and more money was made on the Car Wash than had ever been made on a CDS Car Wash before. The Apple Cart and the Hockey Booth, at "A Country Day," were also very successful. After a month's time, the treasury had been increased by 50%.

Involved is another key word in describing the Class of 1987. The importance of working together is emphasized, and the class meetings reflect this involvement. Another Car Wash, more Apple Carts, two dances, and a father-son outing are planned for the remainder of the school year. Also, this year a class service project either at school or in the community will be initiated. The class wishes to give more time and support to others.

Competitive is a third description of the class. A competitive but friendly atmosphere exists in academics. The classroom remains the priority. However, this class strives for its best efforts in athletics also. With the closing of the fall sports season, the "C" football team, comprising of mostly ninth graders, was undefeated and won the ABC League. In Water Polo, two members started on Varsity, and the J.V. team, consisting of mostly ninth graders, placed fourth in State. Winter and spring sports look just as promising.

As leaders of the Middle School, the Class of 1987 looks to a great future as it enters the Upper School.

Class Five, the Class of 1988, has always been a class of diverse talents. At first, in class Eight, we were a group of strangers; many of us had to learn to make friends and excel in the various activities offered by Country Day. Through the years our class has developed with more class spirit and pride. Some of this pride comes from individuals who strive for the best in athletics and academics.

From our class comes an incredible scholar, Garth Wiens, who has the highest overall average in the school.

We also have athletes: Luke Fouke, Scott Mitchell, Chris Ballard, etc. Along with many other members of the Class Five football team. Our game record was two wins, one tie, and one loss under the coaching of Mr. Helms and Mr. Canavan.

At "A Country Day" our class booth made the most money of any class participating in the celebration.

We have talented musicians: Robert Lloyd, Aaron Grand, and David Nalesnik all play multiple instruments.

As individuals, we all strive to do the best we can. As a class, if we work together, we can leave a legacy at Country Day of pride and accomplishment, and a mark of excellence.

I think what makes up a good class are the people. I think that our class has the greatest bunch of people there is. Our whole class consists of computer wizes, honor role students, musically inclined people, excellent athletes, and people with great personalities. Everybody I know tries to do well in all of his subjects. That's the thing I like about our class, we're not losers. Also, all the guys have great attitudes, and all are nice. I think that if you are ever going to make it in this world, you need to have a good personality; you should be nice, and try to be an optimist. I think that's what our whole class is doing. About trying hard, our class is really tops on that. For an example, at our last applecort we made $200. When our class really wants to do something, we try hard and do it.

This year Class Seven has surprisingly started off the year by making $141 on their first apple-cart.

During the first part of the year we studied in math how money works. This includes stocks, bonds, and investments. While studying this subject, our class visited a brokerage firm called Thompson-McKinnon. Robert Weihi, a Class Seven parent, showed us around the office and suggested stocks to buy. Later we voted on Eastern Airlines, a high risk stock. Mr. Martorelli, our Class Chairman, convinced us to buy this stock.

This year's football season has been exciting and enjoyable, except for Michael Engle's broken wrist. At the Country Day - Priory Varsity football game, Class Seven played at half-time. The Red team defeated the White team 7-0. The most humorous play of the season was when Matt Goebel intercepted a quick pitch. While running up the field, his pants fell down.

We have eight new students this year: Sherwin Chen, Teddy Durham, Edwin Elzemeyer, David Gould, Eric Robertson, Andrew Rohan, Gene Sehl, and Chuck Thompson. We wish them all the best of luck while at Country Day.

This year Class Seven is probably the best class in the school.

FACULTY

Country Day's faculty, which by being very diversified, sets a good example for its students. Not only do the teachers excel in education, but if one looks around the campus he will notice that they are involved in both athletics and extracurricular activities. With the advent of last year's new schedule, students are able to take full advantage of the teacher's cooperativeness and helpfulness during their days. Their willingness to help students is evident when one notices how much time the faculty donates to aid their students. Our teachers accessibility and friendliness shows how concerned they really are with both the school and the students.

English

William J. Canavan

The Country Day English Department continues its tradition of excellence. From learning grammar in the lower school to the intense pressures of PSATS and SATS, a student encounters trained teachers who want their students to be the best.

A student goes through several trying times during his years at Country Day. He must adapt to the organization needed for English in the middle school and up. In class three and English student encounters such classics as Macbeth and learns how to find the deep inner meaning from Mr. Harmon and Mr. MacKenzie. In class two, the juniors must prepare for the PSATS and the SATS with the help of Mr. Rivinus and Mr. Taylor, who also teach us to write organized paragraphs. Finally, in class one, a student studies Shakespeare, Dickens, Satire, and modern writers, to be prepared for the rigors of college.

Science

Richard R. Bess

Science is an important part of the Country Day curriculum. It begins in the lower school with the teachings of Mr. Smen and Mr. Nuzum for classes six, seven, and eight. Of course, who can forget the trips to the pond with Mr. Smen? And one can still smell the mini-biospheres of class six from time to time in Danforth Hallways.

Then, on to middle school for science with Mr. Bess, and Mr. Scott in class five and physics in class four. Next, of course, comes the dreaded course chemistry! But through the teachings of Mr. Potter and Mr. Kamper, students find chemistry isn't as hard as rumors have it to be.

This ends the requirement of Science for a student, but many go on to take such courses as A.P. Chemistry, A.P. Biology, Animal Behavior, and A.P. Physics.

History

William H. Hallett

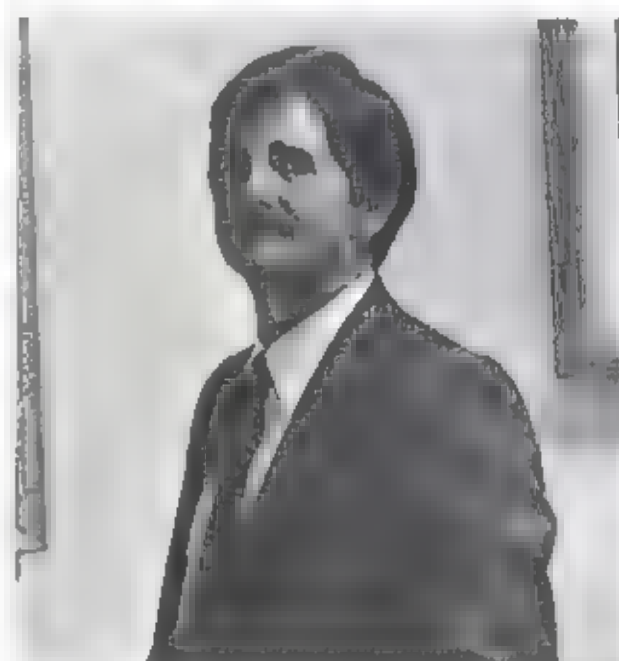

Among the many history electives available, Class II students chose Recent America and The American Presidency (each a one semester course) most widely, along with the required American History course. While Mr. Lloyd handled a regular and an AP American History section, Mrs. Hoffert was involved in both the Recent America and the regular American History classes. Mrs. Hoffert combined with Mr. Marshall to form a duo in the Recent America class, thereby offering a very unique atmosphere dealing with crucial events from the Origins of the Cold War after World War II up to the Watergate Scandal. The second semester American Presidency course was taught by Mr. Marshall and traced the development of the presidency through history, focusing specifically upon those administrations from the Second World War to the present. Both electives were co-ed, single semester courses.

The Mathematics Department at CDS is as strong as ever. Last year's fine staff has returned this year to hold up its end of the traditional well-rounded CDS student. When a student begins his education at CDS, he is disciplined very well in a mathematics program that stresses the fundamentals. With a sturdy foundation, the CDS student builds up a great deal of knowledge in the field of mathematics. Due to the variety of courses, a student is given the opportunity to touch all the bases needed for a good education in mathematics. As a result, CDS students have repeatedly scored highly on SATS and achievement tests to open many doors to a math-oriented career.

Foreign Language

Albert G. Kalmar

With a school of Country Day's size, one wouldn't expect to see the variety of foreign languages which are offered. Not only are the traditional French, Spanish, and Latin offered, but also German and Russian. It is not the variety that sets Country Day's foreign Language Department apart from other schools, but it is the quality of the teaching staff. This is made evident through the fact that each year many students win state and national awards in their respective languages.

Fine Arts

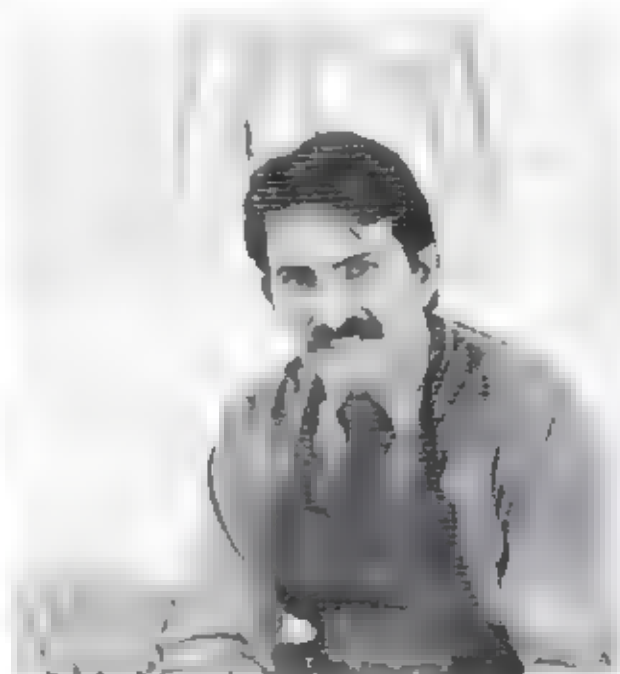

William P. Habetler

The Fine Arts Department, which involves more and more students each year, is a crucial part at Country Day in developing the diversified student. One seldom recognizes the time put in by our dedicated Fine Arts teachers away from class. There are weekly Jazz Band rehearsals, Messing Gallery Openings, Troubadours rehearsals, and many other events which our Fine Arts teachers conduct on their own time.

What a CDS student learns in a Fine Arts class is nothing that can be learned in a regular classroom. Learning to express your thoughts and feelings through musical and visual dimensions is very important. Most CDS students will always remember drawing their shoes in Class VII or learning scales in Class VI. The Fine Arts department is a place where a student can expand and learn as much as he likes. The teachers often work with students one on one to help students enjoy that which they love so much.

Mr. Werremeyer class of 1965

Society's Effect: More Student Freedom
Mr. William R. Werremeyer

Mr. Werremeyer graduated from Country Day in 1965. In his senior year he was the recipient of the Headmaster's Cup. The highlight of the year was a victory over Burroughs in football. As a teacher Mr. Werremeyer cites student freedom as one of the biggest changes since he was a student. During Mr. Werremeyer's days at CDS, seniors had one privilege only; no required study hall. The dress code was strictly enforced, and punishment for not adhering correctly to the rules was usually a Saturday session. There were no detentions then. Mr. Werremeyer believes society has brought about such changes in student freedom. Things that were once student privileges are now student rights.

Country Day, "A Tighter Run Ship"
Mr. H. William Henry

Mr. Henry graduated from Country Day in 1969. Considered by his peers to be a cooperative and conservative student, Mr. Henry enjoyed a successful career at C.D.S. Because of the time, the late 60's, Mr. Henry believed his class to be very diffused. There was no class cohesion. Looking back, Mr. Henry sees the Country Day student today as better dressed and with more pride in society. Mr. Henry also believes the school has taken a more professional approach, becoming a "tighter run ship". One tradition Mr. Henry would like to see return to Country Day is the mandatory chapel.

Mr. Henry class of 1969

Mr. Potter class of 1970

Curriculum improved, yet tradition and discipline are slowly being lost.

Mr. Edward M. Potter

Mr. Potter graduated from Country Day in 1970. Already going bald as a senior, Mr. Potter was the subject of many wise-cracks from his fellow classmates. The class of 1970 was remembered as one of the better classes ever at CDS, excelling in both academics and athletics. Looking back, Mr. Potter believes students these days have more academic possibilities. The curriculum has broadened and the quality of teaching has improved since his days as a student. On the other hand, Mr. Potter senses a loss of tradition and discipline in the Country Day society.

ATHLETICS

Although Country Day is well known for its outstanding curriculum, athletics are by all means vital in the shaping of the all around student. Exceptional coaching, the desire to work hard, overall enthusiasm, as well as pride, are the key ingredients in making the athletic program a successful one.

Sports give the student a chance to get away from the difficulties of the classroom and have some fun. Each coach has a good relationship with his players, which makes the atmosphere often relaxed but never too relaxed.

The bottom line, in explaining Country Day athletics, is that the players and coaches know how to win, and often they won't settle for anything but the best. The players give everything they have in order to impress the coaches and help the team.

The 1983-84 fall sports season exemplified how successful athletics at Country Day truly are. The three football teams each shared at least a tie of the ABC League, with the "C" team winning it outright. The Varsity football team had a magnificent season, winning the District and State Championship. As for the Varsity soccer team, they also were co-Champs in league. Despite not winning their league title, the cross country team had its best finish in the last ten years, and the water polo team had a winning season.

The future also looks bright for the winter and spring seasons, and quite possibly, the Rams could bring home another state title to keep up the winning tradition of Country Day athletics.

The Rams opened their season with the customary trouncing of the Wildcats. With Lamont Greer running the offense, the Rams scored on their opening drive of the season on consecutive running plays. Ray Wilkinson scored on the 34 yard run with the help of excellent blocking by Steve Tschudy and Jim Breckenridge. David Hinch scored twice; Bob Martyn scored on a 24 yard pass, and Tony Knight caught an 11 yard halfback pass from Wilkinson on other drives. The defense also came up with two scores of their own: a 45 yard punt return by Greer and a blocked punt, which was recovered by Tschudy in the endzone.

Control of the line of scrimmage and sound defense enabled the Rams to walk away with their second victory of the season. In a game named by sloppy play, stupid penalties, and costly turnovers, the Rams prevailed simply because of fewer mistakes. The first score came on a two yard run by Hinch after a long, power drive. After exchanging turnovers, the Warriors found themselves on the Country Day three, but once again the defense held with Wilkinson intercepting in the endzone. Eric Ruocco iced the game late in the fourth quarter when he demolished the opponent's QB in the endzone.

CDS 30 DuBourg 14

The Rams emerged as a team to contend with after displaying firece, power football. The Rams were "sky high" for the game as they hit from start to finish. Leading 14 to 7 after three quarters on scores by Greer and an exciting 24 yard jaunt by sophomore Randy Sally, the Rams completely dominated the final period and blew the game wide open. The defense played well in holding down All-State Running Back Byron Mitchell, and keeping the opponents offense off balance with timely blitzing and stunting. The game can be described by Dirk Dispers famous words, "We came to play".

Playing the Lakers for the first time, the Rams didn't know what to expect going in. The physically large Lakers proved to be no match for city football, as the Rams completely dominated the entire game. The Rams stunned their opponent by sticking the ball down their throats and settling for a 30 yard FG by Tim George. The first touchdown was a beautiful executed screen to Greer from Tim Hanser. Greer set up his blocks in professional fashion and marched 74 yards untouched down the sideline. Martyn caught two touchdown passes for 37 and 12 yards to end the scoring. The defense was once again awesome, holding the Lakers to four firstdowns for the entire game.

In the league opener, the Rams were brought back to reality as they were defeated in a defensive battle in the final minute of play. The truth of the matter is that the Crusaders dominated the game and could easily have won by more. The Ram offense was unable to get started in the first half, but the single wing also stalled in the second half. The defense played well overall, but couldn't stop MVP Steve Atwater on his seven yard scramble with 48 seconds left for the winning TD.

CDS 24 Lutheran South 9

The Rams evened their league record by defeating the Lancers in less than spectacular fashion. The Rams took control from the outset, and scored first on a school record 52 yard FG by Tim George. Sally and Tony Knight also scored on two short runs, but the big play came in the third quarter when Sally returned a kickoff 89 yards to end any Lancer hopes of victory. The defense once again demonstrated their ability by bending but not breaking. The Lancer's power I was troublesome initially, but the big play was made by the defense when necessary.

The Rams played their worst game fundamentally, of the season, but somehow managed to walk away with the win. It had rained the entire week of practice, but the poor field conditions really didn't affect the outcome of the game. The Rams led at half 9-0 on a FG by George and a one yard run by Greer and seemed to be in control. The Panthers came out fired up and scored touchdowns on their first two possessions of the second half. Poor tackling and costly penalties were beneficial in the two scores. The winning score came on a spectacular play by Sally on a screen pass which covered 26 yards. The Panthers had a chance to win it late in the fourth quarter, but missed a 40 yard FG.

The game, which everyone had been looking forward to since last year's defeat, was the Game of the season. The Rams wanted this one so badly that they simply went out and took it from the cocky and arrogant Rebels. After a very intensive week of practice, everyone appeared set for The War. Andy Hereford set the stage on the opening kickoff by laying a form hit on James Bommarito. It was certainly a foreshadowing of things to come. After stopping the Rebels twice, the Rams scored touchdowns on their first two drives behind the gapping holes opened by Kelly Kyriakos, John Goebel, Bob Pommer, Breckenridge, Tschudy, and Canfield. Sally and Joe Findley each scored from the one. Going into halftime with only a 13-6 was not very encouraging, for Country Day had totally dominated. Greer ignited the club on the first play from scrimmage in the second half, though, on a 75 yard reverse. The rest of the game was defensive oriented, and Priory managed to score midway through the fourth, but the defense rose to the occasion in the final minute of play when Greer picked off his second pass to end the game. In defeating the Rebels, Country Day was named Team of the Week; Lamont Greer was named Player of the Week.

CDS 38 John Burroughs 16

The Rams qualified for post season play by defeating arch rival Burroughs. After a rather disappointing beginning, the Rams settled down and simply overpowered the inferior Bombers. The scoring was balanced five different plays scored-and everyone got in on the fun. Greer, Wilkinson, and Martyn all scored, along with Evan Gatch, his first of the season. On defense, the Rams had trouble stopping Burrough's "Keys to success." During the second half, constant hitting and gang tackling finally hindered the Keys to stay on their defeat. Wilkinson and Greer each rushed for a 103 yards, which was a foreshadowing of things to come in the playoffs.

CDS 25 Lutheran North 14

Following a short three day week of practice, the Rams opened the playoffs by averaging their only loss of the season. On a beautiful Wednesday afternoon at Ellis Field, Lamont Greer returned to quarterback and guided the highly tuned machine to the Promised Land. Going into the game, the Rams had to control North's MVP Quarterback Steve Atwater and also control Ed Edwards, the Crusaders' leading tackles on defense. The heroes of the game were Tim George, who converted three FG's, Greer, who scored two touchdowns, and Roy Wilkinson, whose 116 hard-earned yards set up many of the scores. What can be said about the defense? Timely blitzing by Kris Kosup and Tom Canfield constantly confused the Crusaders and forced them into one interception and one fumble. The offensive line also jelled as one unit by picking up blitzes and making key blocks. Fredericktown was next on the Rams' hitlist.

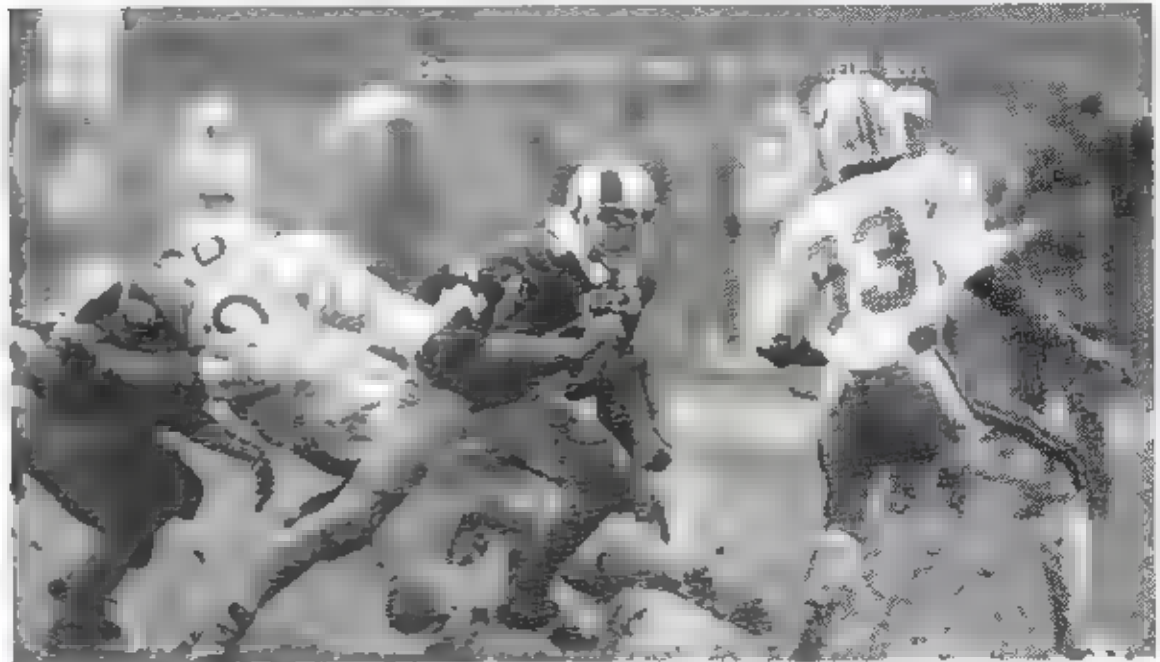

CDS 28 Fredericktown 7

The following Monday night, the Rams traveled through downtown Fredericktown, ate dinner, and went home with the victory and a birth in the State Semi-Finals. Everything was accomplished in business-like fashion, for the Rams appeared over confident and looking toward Dushesne, and also thinking back to Country Day's 38-13 victory over the Wildcats in 1979 playoffs. After hearing the opponents noisy crowd and seeing the Cats' gaudy black uniforms, the Rams appeared ready for battle. Once again the game was won in the trenches where the Rams simply overpowered the Black Cats. On its second drive, CDS ran the ball down their throats and scored on Randy Sally's five yard slant play. In the second quarter, Sally also hit paydirt on the famous 66 wedge. The Rams also scored once in the third and fourth periods on "Bowling Ball", Tony Knight's 5 yard run, and Nick Dunne's 11 yard pass from Tim Hanser, which iced the game. The victory was Coach Holtman's 200 career victory; would Holtman's 201 come against the Dushesne Pioneers?

CDS 3 Dushesne 0

Country Day reached its goal of playing at Busch Stadium by sloshing its way to a hard earned victory over Dushesne's cocky and dirty Pioneers on a flooded field. Because of the heavy rain and poor playing conditions, the first team to score would have the decided advantage. Tim George made good on his first and only attempt - a 39 yard midway through the second quarter. The Ram offense, throughout the game, consisted mainly of sweeps and basic drives, for passing was an almost impossible chore. Quarterback Greer and Center Pommer concentrated well on their exchange for they didn't fumble the snap once. Pommer was also outstanding on punt and the field goal snaps. The defense had the task of stopping All Stater, Brian Wies, and once again they withheld all of his futile attempts. Despite gaining 102 yards, he was stopped on the big plays. The Pioneers' best scoring opportunity occurred on their initial drive of the second half. After powering their way to the Ram 9, they forced a fourth and five. Instead of settling for three, Dushesne Coach Kivett wanted the lead. On a power ISO, the Rams defense swarmed on the opponent's ball carrier, and stopped him inches short of the first down. The Ram defense stiffened the rest of the way, and simply would not break.

Donned in their special "83 State" jerseys, the Rams achieved their ultimate goal: #1 in the state of Missouri in 3A. By finishing 12-1, the 1983 Rams finish with the most victories in Country Day history. Not bad for a rebuilding year. Underdogs from the start of the season, the Rams seemed to thrive on proving themselves champions and that's exactly what they did. The final game at Busch Stadium was a typical victory during the campaign - power, control offense, intimidation, and sticking on defense. The first score came on a long, patient drive of 65 yards which covered fourteen plays and about seven minutes. Wilkinson and Greer did most of the work behind the blocking of Sally and Knight, who had been ill all week. Greer culminated the drive on a yard sneak behind Pommer. The second "drive" was the complete opposite of the first. It covered only four plays and one minute and thirty seconds. The key play was a 49 yard bust by Sally on a fullback screen. Sally was aided by key blocks from Martyn and "Blade" Wilkinson. Wilkinson finished off the job by sweeping right for a six yard victory celebration. The final period and a half was a defensive standoff with neither team scoring. The following players made All-State-MVP Lamont Greer at QB, Steve Tschudy at OT, Dick Disper at DT, and Tim George at K, those four made first team. Three made second team: Kelly Kyriakos at DE, Tony Knight at LB, and James Breckenridge at OG.

ABC League Co-champions

Looking back on the 1983 B-Football season, one could say that this year's team was not just a collection of individual but a determined force, a force which ended up Co-ABC League Champions. Up until their last game, the B-team's quest for an undefeated football season was still in tact. Head Coach Dave Stevens, defensive co-ordinator Dennis Guilliams, and specialty-team coach Bob Steiner produced an amazingly powerful unit with no particular stand-outs. Team Captains Brad Werner, Rick Maechling, and John Killgore did a good job during practice in leading the team, which was sometimes plagued by various humorous antics, provoked mainly by the juniors. With the encouragement of Todd Hesker (when he was there), the juniors found that a bit of light humor generally helped the team with practice. The hardest hitters of the squad include Brad Werner, Bron Valier, and Tom Hampton. The team's defense was helped by the addition of juniors Todd Hesker, Bill Sasser, Chris Bitting, and Don Danforth. With the protection of a stable line, the offense was led by quarterback Mike Christ. The backfield included the very able freshman Mike Mayweather and Sam Choi. The most memorable games include a 27-0 slaughtering of DuBourg, a 12-0, squeaker against Principia, and a come from behind 16-7 victory against Lutheran South.

ABC League Champions

"C" stands for charge, and that is exactly what the "C" football Rams did this season on their way to the ABC League title. The "C" Rams, coached by Ed Potter, R. Nuzum, and E. Mitchell, went 8-0 in an extremely successful season. However, before the season started, the team didn't look like they would be the ABC League champs. But after 28-6 pounding of Chaminade in the opener it became apparent that this team had a chance to be league champs. The team won easily over its next five opponents, including a 43-0 trouncing of L. South. After six easy games, you would think the attitude and intensity would be lacking, but the "C" Rams didn't think so as they pulverized Priory 20-6 with a total team effort. The high continued on the next week as the team blasted Burroughs 12-0 in the finale.

This team, boasting an awesome offense and an extremely stringent defense, scored an incredible 228 points and had three shutouts. David Son led the attack on offense while scoring some twenty-five T.D.s and gaining close to 2000 yards with the help of a great offensive line. The defense was led by Drew Curby, Drew White, John Gregory, and Joe Dilschneider.

With an 8-0 record and being league champs, you can see why "C" stands for: CHARGE.

As in past years, the Varsity Soccer Team was unfortunate in that the team did not have an abundance of adept players. Through sheer drive and desire, the players made up for this disadvantage. "We might have been out finessed during the season; however, we were never out hussled," stated Doc.

At the start of the season, the soccer Rams were on a roll. Without the help of Paul Carlson, who had come down with mononucleosis, the Rams breezed by Washington and Lutheran North. After suffering losses to Ladue, St. John's, North County Tech. and Principia, the Rams got back on the right track by defeating North soundly 3-0. They then put together a three game winning streak squeaking by Westminster and Pembroke. Then the Rams unfortunately tied Priory but blasted Burroughs 2-0.

With hopes to get revenge on Principia, the Rams went for a win; but their hopes for a victory did not become reality. As the game ended, the Rams ended up on the short side 2-1. With eight games left in the season, the soccer Rams became serious and put together an incredible five game winning streak. They outscored their opponents by ten goals. They flew by North, South, West County Tech, and Burroughs.

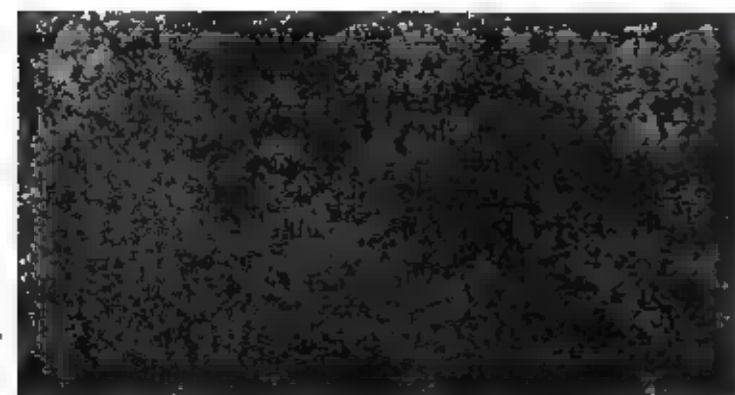

Trying to increase their winning streak to five in a row, the soccer Rams came in to play Luth. South. Earlier, the Rams had destroyed them 4-2, but in this game, the Rams had their work cut out for themselves. With four seconds left in the game, and the score tied at four, Paul Carlson let a rifle of a shot go, and he beat South's goalie. So, the final score ended up 4-3 in CDS's advantage; the Rams had "dodged a bullet."

At the end of the game, Doc stated in relief, "You see all this white hair; this is what you guys do to me!"

The day finally came for the Rams to play Principia. Knowing full well that if they beat Prin, the Rams would become ABC-League Champs, they went into the game determined to come out with a victory. In the first half, Principia scored two cheap goals, but the Rams out-hussled them. Then as the third period drew to a close, Tim George headed in a goal. He SCORED! The score stood at 2-1, and in the fourth quarter, the Rams tried with all their might to score, but the ball wouldn't go in. As the time drew to a close, 4-3-2-1-0, the score remained 2-1, and the Rams dropped their third game against Principia.

With hopes for an ABC League Championship blemished, the Rams were out for revenge for their earlier tie with Priory. The Rams dominated the game and won 3-2. So, it seemed as if the Rams would end up in second place; however, it wasn't till later that Doc had found out that they had tied with Principia for first place in ABC League. Doc commented, "Everyone worked together, as a team should, and we got the maximum mileage."

During the whole season, the Rams outscored their opponents by an impressive eleven goals. The Rams also had five players who made all ABC-League, more than in past years. When asked how next year's team looked, Doc concluded, "Many key players will be graduating, so we'll need a lot of people to fill their shoes."

The 1983 varsity water polo season was a season of ups and downs. It was a rebuilding year for the team, which finished 9-7. The Aqua-Rams started out slow, but finished 8th, barely losing to Lindbergh in the semi-finals at state.

With only one returning starter from last year's team, the Rams were not expected to finish with a winning record. Centered around All-American Bill Senf, the Rams relied on speed and superior ball handling. Of the 11 players on the team, five were seniors, four were juniors, and two were freshmen. Led by starters: Bill Senf, Drew Platt, Nick Clifford, Dan Hummert, and Marshall Hoekel, and Bob Senf, the Rams amassed 120 goals.

There were three main highlights for the '83 season for the Rams. The biggest surprise of the season was one of the best goalies in the league. In the Suburban League Tournament, they had to play eventual winners, Parkway West. Despite being a little inexperienced and a little nervous, the Rams held usually high-scoring West to only 6 goals. In a very emotional game, the Rams defeated arch rival Ladue 5-3 in the best game the team played all season.

The biggest disappointment for the Rams unfortunately occurred in the State Tournament against Lindbergh. The lead changed hands throughout the game and at the end of regulation time, the score was tied. In the following overtimes, the Rams had numerous opportunities to score but were unable to put the ball in the net.

This was a year for rebuilding and for gaining experience. It was also a year in which Coach Don Casey showed why many consider him the best water-polo coach outside of California. With six members of this year's team returning, the Rams should be one of the favorites to win the gold in '84.

Activities

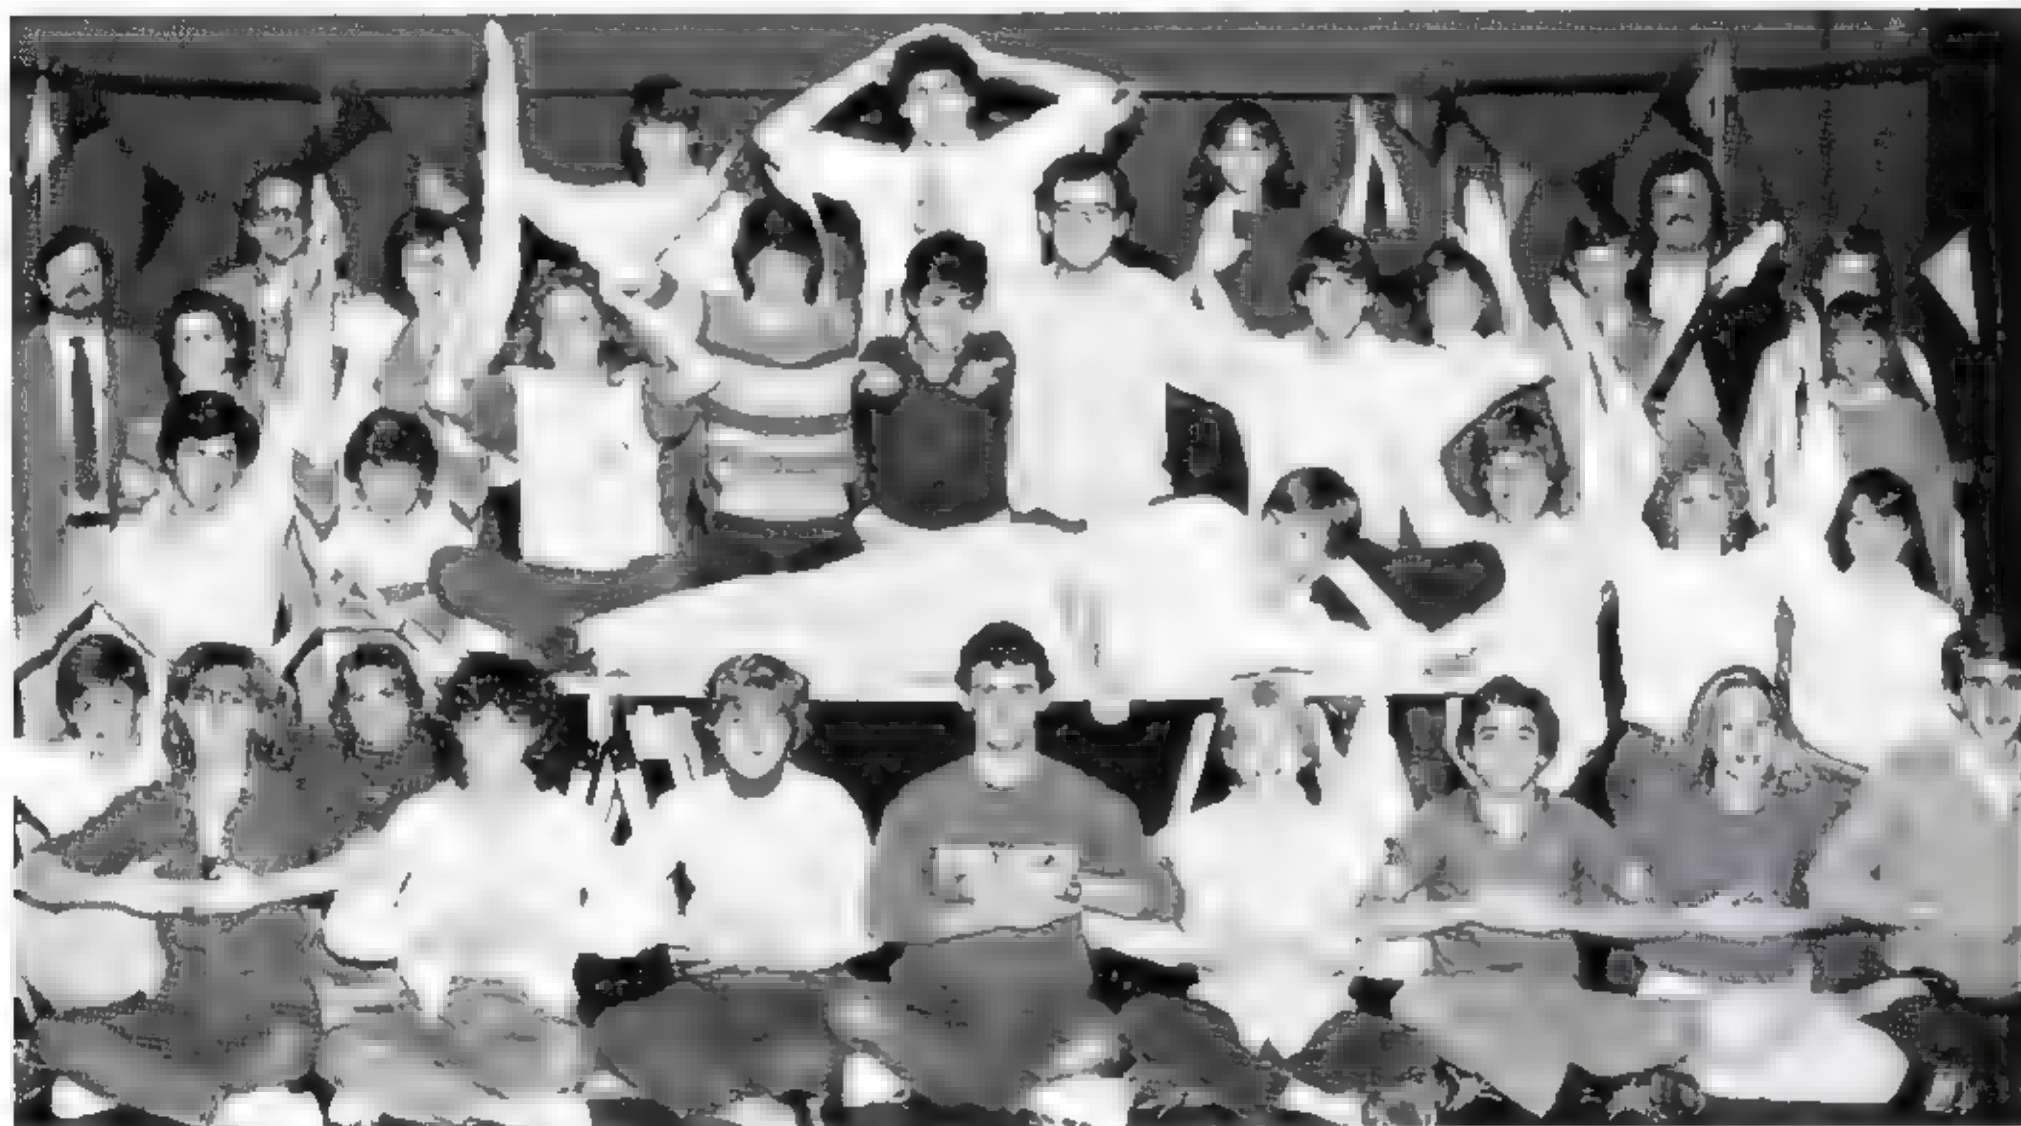

Because Country Day believes in a wellrounded education, students are given the chance to participate in activities along with their academics and athletics. For a small school, CDS carries numerous activities, ranging from the theatre to publications to clubs. While some activities such as Model U. N. and the AFS club enable students to reach out to students from other schools, the Student Council, the CODASCO, the NEWS, and Guides programs enable students to get involved with the workings of the school.

Disciplinary Committee

Disciplinary Committee has Busy Season.

Serious discipline problems plagued the school this year and kept the disciplinary committee busy. Acting as a court, the combined faculty student committee reviews the severity of infractions and passes sentences. As has been illustrated this year, improper behavior may result in a reprimand, suspension, or expulsion.

Signet Society

The Signet Society is an honor society commending those juniors who have made substantial contributions to the school through athletics, activities, or various other nonacademic achievements. The students are chosen by an elaborate system of points based on participation in the various clubs and organizations. Each year 1/5 of the senior class and three juniors are admitted to the society.

Pep Band

The Pep Band played at all of the home football games and all of the play-off games. Under the direction of Mr. Habbetler the Pep Band definitely rallied the school spirit. Often times the pep bands presence goes unnoticed, but they are an important part of every football victory.

Russian Dancing

This year, Nadia Danett led the Russian Dancers to an undefeated season. The Russian Dancers are an elite group of students who perform many dances from various areas and cultures of the Soviet Union. In an interview with the President of the Club, Dan Marshall, we heard a few words about the spiritual uplifting one receives from this dancing: "It was wild crazy and fun." The Russian Dancers exhibit was a very important facet to Russian culture, namely, the art of dance, which makes the long practices seem worth while.

Russian Dancers

Thespian Society

The Thespian Society, while not an active group, does recognize those students who have made great contributions to the CDS theater. This year's President was John Sutter, while Cam Litsey filled in as Vice President; without the Thespian Society the success the theater has enjoyed would be impossible.

The sound crew is an often forgotten but integral part of the Drama Program at Country Day. The students on this crew have received extensive training and are well qualified for the job of operating the new, complicated sound equipment. Although the audience only views what goes on onstage, the students in the technical booths make the show complete. Rarely are these students recognized or given credit.

Investment Club

Investment Club

Young entrepreneurs risked their beloved money this year and pounced into the fast pace game of the stock market. The Investment Club allows students to get a better exposure to the world of high finance. The organization has been strong in the past, but gradually the level of enthusiasm has dropped. Hopefully, new, young blood will bring a revival to the spirit of students playing the stock market.

Here are some of the many students who participated in this year's Model U.N.

AFS Club

AFS

The AFS Committee has the responsibility of sponsoring a student from another country to spend a school year attending Country Day. They also sponsor excursions for CDS students who plan to spend a summer or term in a foreign country. AFS Club is directed by Mrs. Danett and consists of students from the upper four classes.

Viewpoint

The events which take place daily around the world have significant and far-reaching effects on all people, including the youth of today. Insofar as it is Country Day's goal to prepare the young people of today to become the well educated adults of tomorrow, we have attempted to provide a forum in which to express the views of the Country Day School community on current events. It is the hope of the editors that Viewpoint Magazine shall help to increase the school community's awareness of the world around them by providing the means for them to be better informed.

Literary Review

Literary Review

The Literary Review is a student run annual magazine which accepts work from the student body and faculty. The purpose of the Review is to provide a collection of some of the best literary achievements of the year. For the second year in a row the Review was coordinated with MI, which provided a larger pool of writers. However, students interest was lacking until a $50.00 first prize incentive was added. This provided for another successful Literary Review.

Foreign Language Literary Review

The Foreign Language Literary Review gives the Country Day Students the opportunity to display their talents in their respective languages. This may include prose, poetry, or short stories. The quality of the past productions reflects the strong language department at Country Day.

The Layout Staff

Business Staff

Under the fearless leadership of the editors, the staff of this year's book was, as you can see, successful in completing the job. While shuffling through the stacks of copy sheets and scads of croppers, the staffers tackled a very responsible task. When working together as a team we surged through work in minutes. Because of so much excitement, I can only look back upon these meetings as a busy, whirling blur. At some points, it seemed as though those dreaded Tuesday evening and Sunday afternoon gatherings would never end; however, seeing it finished gives one a great feeling of accomplishment, which makes it all seem worthwhile

Tuesday Night Florida Planning

Every student looks forward to those twenty four days in March where they either escape the deep winter weather and head south or move west to the ski slopes of Colorado for a little Rocky Mountain madness. For seniors, however, this time holds special significance. In groups of six to twelve, these out-lawed seniors head to the infamous Fort Lauderdale experience. This year, the tradition lives on. Half the fun, of course, is planning the excursion, and so every Tuesday evening is spent at one of the participant's homes preparing themselves for the rigorous gastrointestinal abuse. Of course, after vacation has ended, meetings will resume as the Tuesday Evening Math Club.

Lower School Activities

This year the Lower school activities programs offered a variety of extra-curricular classes such as, board games, typing, computers, rocketry and pottery. Activities take place from 1:10 - 2:50 PM. In board games there are many different games to pick from such as Stratego, Monopoly, Scrabble and Life. One of the most favorite games is one called Dungeons and Dragons, a complex role playing game in which a Dungeon master leads you through an intricate imaginary "maze" while encountering many strange monsters and wonderful treasures. The instructor of board games is Mr. Jacobi. Mr. Jacobi usually joins in some of our games. Board games is a very enjoyable way to end a week and I think my feelings are shared with other members of this activity.

Computers and Typing

In Computers and Typing, which is taught by Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Ramsey, we have learned the home row keys of the typewriter. We have also learned other keys and symbols which help us to work with the computers. Every Friday we warm up with some exercises and then we load one of the typing disks into the computer. The typing games combine gaming with typing.

We have also learned some of the Basic language of computers. We have learned how to make programs, graphics, and much, much more. We are using the Apple II plus computers in this activity. Occasionally we play a game such as Drol or Aztec. We enjoy this activity and look forward to it every Friday afternoon.

Rocketry

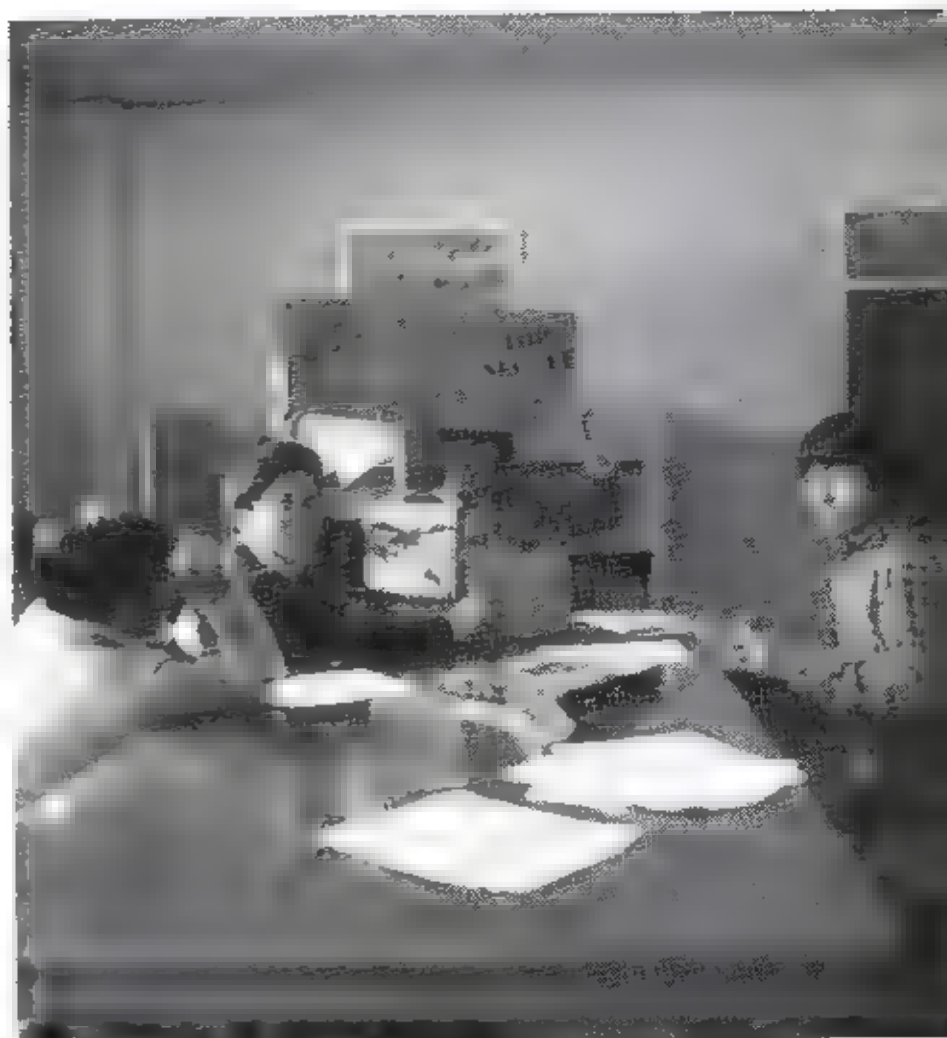

In Rocketry, which is taught by Mr. Jacobi, we bring our rockets and work on them for the first forty-five minutes. For the last half of the activity, we go up to the soccer field and launch the finished rockets. So far, we've launched two rockets that blew up in mid-flight and two rockets that have gotten caught in trees. Although we have had a few misfires, the majority of the launches have been successful. Unfortunately, the weather isn't predictable. The wind isn't often in our favor. One of the rockets was, after its launch, blown from the soccer field to the roof of Jarj Hall. This is one of the more popular activities, and we are all enjoying it.

Jazz Band

The Lower School Jazz Band is a great activity for anybody who likes to play jazz or blues. We have played many "awesome" tunes including Satin Stru, Superblues, Soul Street, and Little Fox. In Jazz Band, we only play for part of the time. For about half of the time, we usually listen to some jazz records that Mr. Habetler has brought. The Lower School Jazz Band played on Fine Arts Night.

Feature Films

Feature Films is not the most exciting activity at CDS, but we do get to see a lot of old classics. We usually see a few good mystery movies like Sherlock Holmes. Feature Films is a great activity for those who enjoy film classics.

A Serious Side

The Senior Class

The Class of '84 may be remembered as a bunch of guys that just liked having a good time together, both in and out of school. Uniquely, though, this class has been able to combine the frivolous with the serious. When the time arrived to work diligently, they did; their work has been some of the best of recent years.

The overall class average has always been one of the highest in the school. With eighteen National Merit Finalists, Semi-Finalists, and Commended students, a new school record for having thirty-five percent of the class honored. In addition, close to half of the class was admitted to college early.

An attitude consisting solely of academic seriousness was not always shown, but this was the aim of the Class of '84. Neither was it their aim to live solely for the next weekend. Their attitude was a good mix of these two aims. If one statement can summarize the attitude of the Class of '84 during their eight years at Country Day, it is the following: They have strived to enjoy their education. But most importantly, they have earned the respect of their teachers because of their achievements. Excellence in extra-curricular activities is another trademark of this class. Group efforts have produced a State Championship Football Team, emotional performances of Godspell, and J.B., a quality newspaper, and an innovative yearbook.

Priory: Our new rival?

Will all the traditional Burroughs rivalry be replaced by Priory?

A special day was held at CDS to fire up the students for the "big game."

"I can't go to sleep. I'm too psyched up for tomorrow's game," I remember Bob Pommer saying. Everyone was at the game and was more than happy to see CODASCO beat Priory. But Burroughs was a different story, more low-keyed, more business-like. Shouldn't it have been the other way around?

Well, for the past two seasons it has not been, and many people are beginning to believe that Country Day has a new rival, the Priory Rebels. "There's no love lost between us," says senior Kelly Kyriakos.

But why the extra emphasis on beating them in every sport?

The reason may be found in the senior classes at both schools. Priory has never really liked Country Day. And the seniors at Country Day had a special incentive because one of their former classmates, Jim Bommarito, the star of the Rebels, transferred to Priory after a eighth grade. This inflamed an already growing rivalry. As a result, the seniors have tried to beat his team at every sport.

This has led to some very spirited games in football, basketball, and hockey.

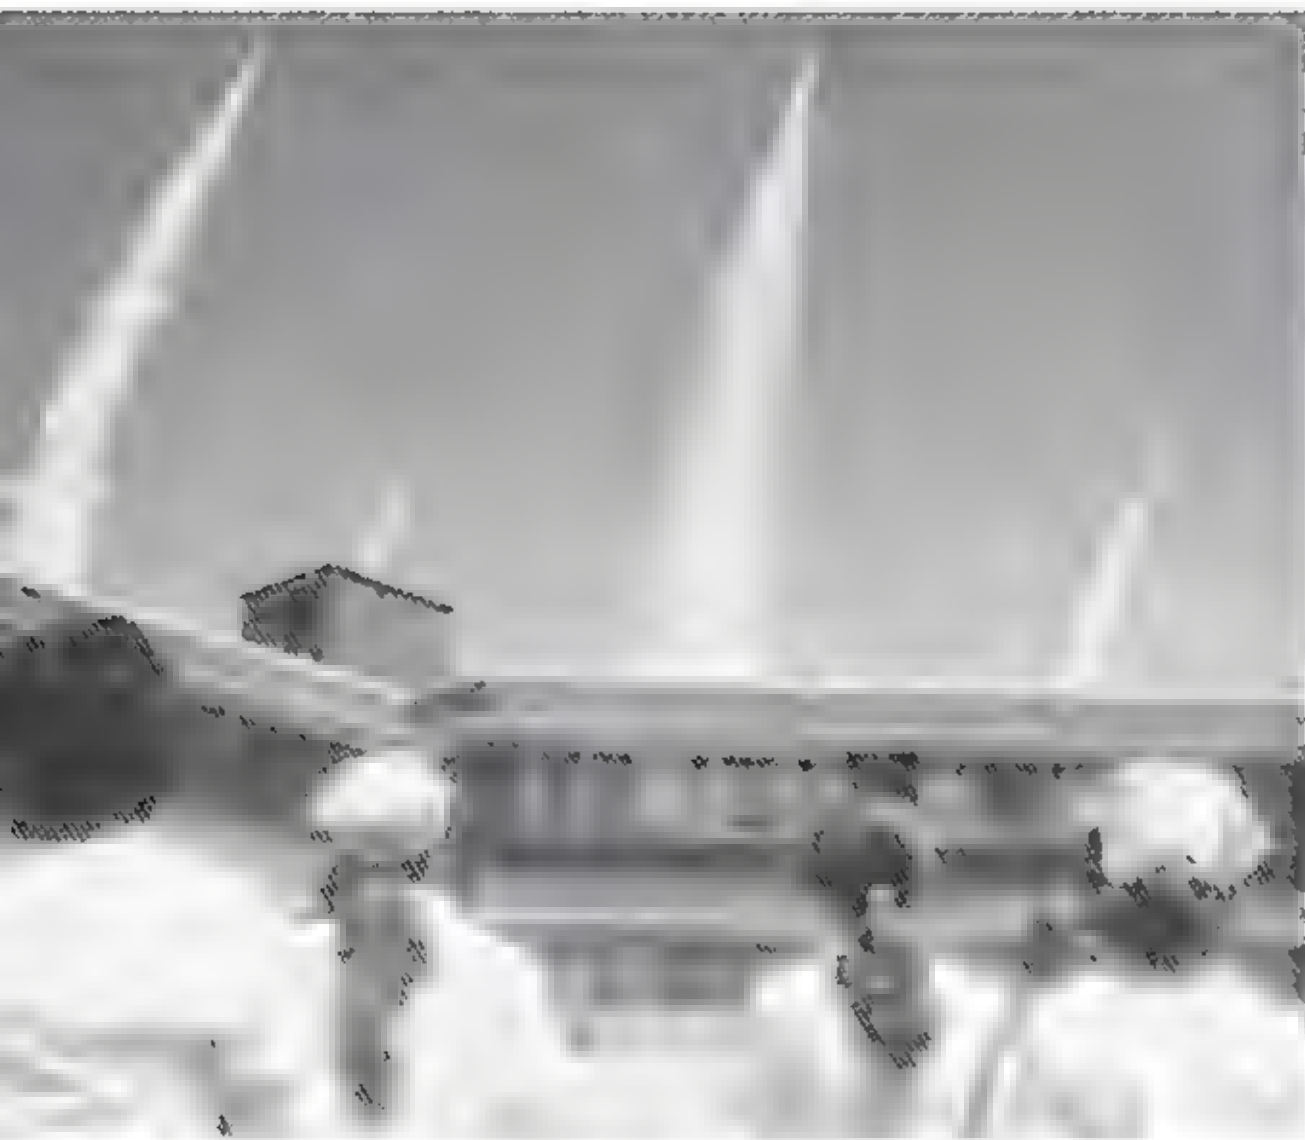

Burroughs has taken a back seat to Priory in terms of an important game in any sport. The question is whether the traditional CDS-JBS rivalry will die and be replaced by a new rivalry between CDS and Priory.
